

Analagous to "regular" telephone numbers, cell phone numbers should be able to be transfered by the customer to a different carrier. The longer a customer uses a telephone number, the more tied he/she is to it. Without having a transferable number, the customer is forced into remaining with his/her carrier. This is unfair.